Exclaiming "My God! my God!" Father Leo fell successfully for three years in the prone in front of the alter and died without uttering another word.

With an inarticulate scream the assassin sprang into the aisle and dashed Maxwell, Ky. to the door. For a moment the hundred or more people in the church were dazed, then became panic stricken. Women fainted and many became hysterical.

Deputy Coroner Hays took charge of the priest's body, which was removed to the city morgue.

A single hole in the white communion robes of the priest showed that the bullet had gone straight to the heart. The bullets remaining in the revolver had sharpened points.

EXTRA SESSION TALK IDLE DREAM

Governor has no Idea of Reconvening Assembly

To Pass Bills Which Democratic Majority Refuse to Indorse.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 22.-The report that Gov. Willson will call an extra session of the Legislature to pass neede legislation in the event of the failure of the present session to pass it is vigorously denied here by those who are close to the Gov-Ernor.

It is pointed out by them that any failure of the Legislature to enact this measure cannot be laid at the door of Republicans, inasmuch as they are in the minority in both Houses, and that the Governor would not in any event overstep the bounds of officials propriety and order a special session for the accomplishment of something the General Assembly in its wisdom might see fit to neglect.

The sole cause of the hullabaloo which has been raised over the county unit bill is the petty politics that has been played by Beckham and the remnants of his machine to prevent the seating in the House of two Republicans who were as honestly and fairly elected as Gov. This is what has worried the Demonight since the second week of the through the Detroit River amounted session and all his resourcefulness and energy and that of his circle intimate political friends have been

Naturally the Republicans are anxious that the House dispose of these contests, but the Beckham Democrats and Democratic opponents of the coun ty unit bill being in the majority, have seized the situation to prevent reports from being made, and at the same time to shelve the county unit

Call for Republican State Convention.

The Republican State Central meeting at Louisville Tuesday called a State Convention to meet in Louisville Wednesday May 6 at one o'clock P. M., to select four delegates from the State at large to the Chicago Convention at which a Republican candidate for President will be nominated. No attempt was made to pass resolutions endorsing Taft or Fairbanks for President, and the meeting was harmonious throughout. Louisville and Lexington were placed in nomination for the Convention, the former city being winner.

Following is the call and member of delegates each county is entitled to send to State and district conventions. In according with established custom and in obedience to the rules geverning the Republican organization of Kentucky and the official call of the Republican National Committee, the Republican State Central Committee of Kentucky now directs that a State convention of delegated representatives of the Republican party of Kentucky be held in the city of Louisville Ky., at 1 o'clock p. m., standard time, on Wednesday, the sixth day of May, 1908 for the purpose of electing four delegates from the State of Kentucky-at-large, and four alternate delegates-at-large to the National Convention of the Republican party, to be held in Chicago Ill., on Tuesday, June 16, 1908, and for the purpose of nomilarge, to be voted for at the election to be held November 3, 1908.

The delegates to said State convention shall be elected by county massconventions to be held in the county seat in each county at 1 o'clock, standard time on Saturday April 25 1908; except in the counties of Boyd, campbell and Kenton in which counties conventions shall be field at he cities of Ashland, Newport and Covington, one of the best lubricants that can be respectively, and provided that in Jef- used is said to be kerosene oil, as it ferson county said mass-convention prevents to a great extent the liabilishall be held in each of the wards of ty to tear the surface of the metal and the city of Louisville and for the coun enables a better finish to be obtainty outside the limits of said city, ed. which latter meeting may be held in said city. are caused by Indigestion. If you eat a little too much, or if you are subject to attacks of Indigestion, you have no doubt had shortness of breath, rapid heart beats, heartburn or palpitation of the heart. Indigestion causes the stomach to expand—swell, and puff up against the heart. This crowds the heart and interferes with its action, and in the course of time the heart becomes diseased.

Story of the Fortsas Catalogue and Its Author.

CLEVER AND BRAZEN FRAUD.

This Ingenious Publication Completely Fooled the Savants and Bibliophiles of Europe and Was the Literary Sensation of Its Day.

When P. T. Barnum cynically remarked that the American people loved to be fooled he might just as well have left out the adjective, for that Americans are much more guillble than natives of other lands can very readily be called into question by anybody at all familiar with the history of hoaxdom. I suppose that for pure effrontery and ingenious brazenness the Fortsas Catalogue stands in the front rank of deception. Yet this pamphlet was folsted not upon the American public, but upon the savants and bibliophiles of Europe-men skilled in the art of books and in the detection of forgery. So cleverly was this fraud conceived and executed that it deserves to stand in the front rank of any consideration, however brief, of clever deceptions.

The Fortsas Catalogue was published in 1840-a small book purporting to be the catalogue of the private library of a certain Count J. N. A. de Fortsas of Binche, in Belgium. Although the book consisted of but fourteen pages and listed only fifty-two titles, it stirred up a veritable teapot tempest among the wise heads. The reason was not far to seek-not one of the books mentioned in the catalogue was to be found in any other library or publisher's list! They were all absolutely "sole surviving" copies of intensely interesting works. In the words of the catalogue itself, "the count pitilessly expelled from his shelves books for which he had paid their weight in gold-as soon as he learned that a work up to that time unknown had been mentioned in any catalogue." Each new research of tearned investigators into the book lore of antiquity, it was claimed, "had thinned still further the already decimated ranks of the count's sacred battalion." Weary of his tremendous and self imposed task of collecting only unique specimens, the count was stated to have died on Sept. 1, 1839, and his library was now offered for sale. Apparently the fraudulent character of such master foolery was quite patent. Yet the high brows "bit" enthusiastically, and there resulted one of the most amusing incidents of the

For instantly the learned book lovers were up in arms, each trying to outdo his rival and secure for himself the most precious of the treasures at the sale which was advertised. Orders poured in from all over Europe on the behalf of scholarly societies, libraries, royal families and literary enloures. One bookseller came all the way from Amsterdam just to see No. 75, the "Corpus Juris Civilis." The Princess de Ligne "for the honor of her famity" ordered No. 48 at any price to suppress it on account of certain discreditable family episodes it was supposed to contain. Many other prominent persons and institutions clamored for a chance at the collection. "Men remembered having seen books that never existed," says William Shepard. "The foreman in Casteman's printing office at Tourney had distinct recollections of a bogus volume credited to his

Unfortunately the advertised sale never came off. On the 9th of August, the day before it was to have begun, the Brussels papers announced that the town of Binche had determined to keep the collection intact by purchasing it with public funds. The that Binche was a most insignificant village, quite unable to purchase much of anything, let alone a universally desired library. Still, even that statement was believed.

The truth eventually transpired that the Count de Fortsas, his miraculous library and the catalogue were all the creations of an ingenious fellow named Rene Chalons, living in Belgium. His catalogue begot a rather extensive literature of its own, which has since been collected and published under the title "Documents et Particularites Historiques sur le Comte de Fortsas." A copy of the original catalogue now rests in the Congressional library at Washington. - Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

A Surprise For St. Kilda. The inhabitants of the lonely isle of St. Kilda were astonished one winter some years ago at the appearance of a great blood red, conical object floating on the wild Atlantic billows to the westward of the isle. With much difficulty the derelict was brought to shore. and as the St. Kildans had never before seen such a queer looking thing and could make no guess as to its purpose or place in the scale of created things they indulged in wild visions of its valuable nature. But when the factor came across on his yearly visit from the neighboring but distant island of Great Britain he identified it as a great iron buoy which, it subse-quently appeared, had broken away from its moorings in New York harbor and drifted in the gulf stream across the Atlantic. It had taken two years

With the help of a little tool, not unike a tin opener, our burglar cut two ong slits-one perpendicular, the other horizontal-in the iron shop shutter. Then he wrenched the flap toward him, bending it with his powerful hands as one twists open the lid of a sardine tin. Another minute and he was inside.

Quietly and methodically he thrust precious stones and rings into his little bag, choosing those which besides being small were of great value. The bag was all but full when the jeweler himself appeared at the back of the shop. He carried a candle in one hand and a revolver in the other.

The burglar bowed very politely and

"I did not care to pass by an old friend's house without stopping to bid

The bag was rapidly filled to almost bursting point, and before leaving the premises the burglar wrote a few words on a sheet of paper, which h pasted on the outside of the shop:

An eminent physician had a valuable cow, which became sick and seemed likely to die. He asked an Irish servant who lived with him if he knew anybody who followed cow doctoring. The doctor's groom said, "There's Jemmy Lafferty, who can cure any cow in the world." "Well, then," replied the doctor, "go for Lafferty." The cow doctor accordingly came and treated the brute for four or five days, and on the lapse of due time he waited on Dr. Lewis and pronounced her cured.

Old Age Is Selfish.

A lady residing in a quiet village in Suffolk used to take an interest in a very aged couple who were spinning out the last thread of life in "Darby and Joan" fashion, seated on either them a visit to cheer them up. Deadly East Indian Duels. There are a good deal of savagery and stoical disregard of death left in the east yet despite the advance of civilization, and this extends to the so called sports of the people. Thus among the natives of Baroda there obtains still a kind of gladiatorial display in the shape of a fearful fist fight wherein the contestants wear a very formidable cestus of steel studded with murderous spikes. Slaughtered ine Anthem.

"When I went west first," said a Unitarian minister "I was in a small town called L., and in the choir of my church the village blacksmith did noble work as baritone. He had a voice that could shake mountains, and whatever it lacked in any other feature it made up in volume. He couldn't read music any more than he could English, but he learned a tune very readily.

"One Sunday we were to be favored with a new anthem because it was a special occasion, and the baritone had one portion all to himself. Unfortunately he lad missed many of the Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderfu cures made by Dr. Kilmer Swamp-Root the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy:

It is the great medical triumph of the nine-teenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the emi-

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kid-ney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work, in private practice, among the helpless too poor to pur-chase relief and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble.
